

Open New Doors as a CAREER DEVELOPMENT PROFESSIONAL

Concordia University College of Alberta

Start your Minor in Career Development this September

Over the past three years the Career Development field has seen considerable change due to the rapidly shifting economy.

Concordia University College of Alberta has been at the fore front of Career Practitioner training since 1987, specializing in the development of principles and practices that guide both the practitioner and his/her clients to manage careers within organizations in the face of recurring change.

Building on the success and demand of our Certificate and Diploma programs, Concordia will be offering a minor in Career Development starting September 2009, with the intent of opening new doors for students. If you are entering your second year in either the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Management programs you can start this fall!

Watch for course offerings in the fall/winter special sessions Calendar!

Did you know...

Career Development Professionals:

- Advise
- Coach
- Provide information & support people planning, seeking and managing their life/work direction
- Help clients navigate through career transitions and stages
 - Assist clients in finding employment, writing resumes, developing portfolios and preparing for interviews
 - Select and recommend suitable educational and training programs

Employment & Advancement

Career Development professionals are often employed by:

- Provincial and Federal government departments
- Educational institutions (private, separate and post-secondary)

- Human resources departments
- Private agencies
- Not for profit organizations

For more information:

Visit:

careerdevelopment.concordia.ab.ca

Email: admits@concordia.ab.ca

Phone: 1.866.479.5200

